DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

---

Best Practice from 2020-2021

“Reading for Pleasure”

1. Objective of the practice:

- To enable students, derive pleasure of reading stories.
- Help the students improve their vocabulary
- To improve their comprehension levels.

2. Need addressed and the context:

Most of the students are from marginalized sections of the society and have no access to literature particularly to the story books in English.

- An opportunity to read and appreciate the story books improved their comprehension and vocabulary.

3. The Practice:

- Two hundred story books donated by the faculty members are kept at the disposal of students in the Departmental Library.
- Twice in a semester is allocated for Pleasure Reading.
- The faculty members will distribute the story books among the students of a particular class.
- Graded allotment is followed depending on the comprehension level of the students.
- Students are asked to read and write down the new words.

4. Evidence of success:

- Students have evinced great interest in reading the story books written in a simple language.

5. Resources:

- More than Seventy story books.
